The Declaration of Independence is generally regarded as one of the most famous documents in the history of the world. On June 10, 1776, the Continental Congress appointed a committee, consisting of Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston to draft a Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson wrote out a rough draft of the Declaration, which was carefully revised by the committee and presented to Congress for adoption. After some further slight revisions by that body, it was adopted on July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia.

The parchment with the original signatures was deposited with the Department of State when the government was organized in 1789.

The original Declaration of Independence was transferred from the Department of State by direction of the late President Warren G. Harding to the Library of Congress. The Declaration was moved from the Library of Congress in 1952 at the direction of Congress and transferred to the National Archives Building where it rests today.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES
IN CONGRESS AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people should relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither; and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do in the name, and by authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States, may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

The United States Constitution is the oldest federal constitution in existence. It was so well framed that it has served as the basis for this government for a century and a half. Only once has it been seriously endangered, this being during the Civil War. Many of its principles have been adopted by other countries.

The Constitution was the outgrowth of a convention of delegates from the different states that met in Philadelphia in May, 1787, Rhode Island not being represented. George Washington presided over the convention, which lasted from May to September.

The Constitution was then submitted to the then existing states for ratification, with a provision that it should become effective when ratified by nine states. New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify, June 21, 1788, and the Constitution went into effect in 1789.

The states ratified the Constitution in the following order: Delaware, Dec. 7; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, and New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2; Connecticut, Jan. 9; Massachusetts, Feb. 6; Maryland, Apr. 28; South Carolina, May 23; New Hampshire, June 21; Virginia, June 26, and New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789, and Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

PART FIRST

BILL OF RIGHTS

Article 1st. [Equality of Men; Origin and Object of Government.] All men are born equally free and independent: Therefore, all government, of right, originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 65 NH 113, 86 NH 597, 89 NH 428, 96 NH 423, 102 NH 215, 105 NH 366.

[Art.] 2d. [Natural Rights.] All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights — among which are, the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing, and protecting, property; and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

NOTE. — The abbreviation “Art” was first inserted in this and following articles of the Bill of Rights in General Statutes, 1867.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 53 NH 398, 54 NH 117, 54 NH 590, 60 NH 219, 67 NH 1, 71 NH 552, 72 NH 95, 73 NH 31, 75 NH 27, 77 NH 581, 87 NH 64, 87 NH 68, 94 NH 148, 102 NH 236.

[Art.] 3d. [Society, its Organization and Purposes.] When men enter into a state of society, they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society, in order to ensure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 60 NH 219, 71 NH 552, 89 NH 54, 97 NH 91, 105 NH 355.

[Art.] 4th. [Rights of Conscience Unalienable.] Among the natural rights, some are, in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the Rights of Conscience.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 59 NH 219, 89 NH 54, 100 NH 436.

[Art.] 5th. [Religious Freedom Recognized.] Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience; or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion; provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

Annotation — 53 NH 9, 58 NH 240, 59 NH 219, 64 NH 48, 68 NH 380, 76 NH 393, 89 NH 54, 91 NH 137, 97 NH 352, 99 NH 519, 100 NH 436.

[Art.] 6th. [Morality and Piety.] As morality and piety, rightly grounded on high principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay, in the hearts of men, the strongest obligations to due subjection; and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society, therefore, the several parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies shall at all times have the right of electing their own teachers, and of contracting with them for their support or maintenance, or both. But no person shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the schools of any sect or denomination. And every person, denomination or sect shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect, denomination or persuasion to another shall ever be established.

NOTE. — This article amended 1968.

Annotation — 2 NH 20, 53 NH 9, 56 NH 508, 58 NH 170, 66 NH 207, 75 NH 420, 75 NH 560, 76 NH 393, 88 NH 394, 93 NH 301, 99 NH 519.

[Art.] 7th. [State Sovereignty.] The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, pertaining thereto, which is not, or may not hereafter be, by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

Annotation — 66 NH 362, 90 NH 472, 105 NH 286.

[Art.] 8th. [Accountability of Magistrates and Officers.] All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

Annotation — 66 NH 362, 67 NH 1, 90 NH 472.

[Art.] 9th. [No Hereditary Office or Place.] No office or place, whatsoever, in government, shall be hereditary — the abilities and integrity requisite in all, not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

[Art.] 10th. [Right of Revolution.] Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security, of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men; therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted, and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to reform the old, or establish a new government. The doctrine of nonresistance against arbitrary power, and oppression, is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

Annotation — 52 NH 581, 60 NH 219, 65 NH 113, 86 NH 597, 88 NH 484, 89 NH 314, 90 NH 472, 99 NH 33, 101 NH 527.

[Art.] 11th. [Elections and Elective Franchise.] All elections ought to be free, and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect, and be elected, into office; but no person shall have the right to vote or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language and to write; provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to any person prevented solely by a physical disability from complying with its requisitions, nor to any person who now has the right to vote; and provided further that no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall have been convicted of treason, bribery, or any wilful violation of the election laws of this state, or of the United States; but the supreme court may, on notice to the attorney-general restore the privileges of an elector to any person who may have forfeited them by conviction of such offenses. The general court shall have power to provide by law for voting by qualified voters who at the time of biennial or state elections, or of the primary elections therefor, or of city elections are absent from the city or town of which they are inhabitants, or who by reason of physical disability are unable to vote in person, in the choice of any officer or officers to be elected or upon any question submitted at such election. The right to vote shall not be denied to any person because of the non-payment of any tax.

NOTE. — First proviso inserted, 1903; second proviso inserted 1912. The last sentence was added in 1942 and amended in 1956, and 1968.

Annotation — 83 NH 589, 97 NH 452, 99 NH 540, 101 NH 420, 101 NH 429, 104 NH 100, 104 NH 108.

[Art.] 12th. [Protection and Taxation Reciprocal.] Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it, in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property; he is therefore bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service when necessary. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they, or their representative body, have given their consent.

NOTE. — Amended 1964.

NOTE. — Amended 1964.

Annotation — Smith NH 1.

[Art.] 14th. [Legal Remedies to be Free, Complete, and Prompt.] Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense, by himself, and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land. Every person held to answer in any crime or offense punishable by deprivation of liberty shall have the right to counsel at the expense of the state if need is shown; this right he is at liberty to waive, but only after the matter has been thoroughly explained by the court.

[Art.] 16th. [Former Jeopardy; Jury Trial in Capital Cases.] No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense. Nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment, (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

[Art.] 17th. [Venue of Criminal Prosecutions.] In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts, in the vicinity where they happened, is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate, of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed; — except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court, that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and upon their report, the legislature shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

NOTE. — “Legislature” was substituted for “assembly,” 1793.

[Art.] 18th. [Penalties to be Proportioned to Offenses; True Design of Punishment.] All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves, and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offenses. For the same reason a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust. The true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate mankind.

NOTE. — The words “those of” following the word “do” in the third sentence, stricken out, 1793.

The word “offenses” in the third sentence was substituted for “dye,” 1793.

Annotation — 80 NH 1.

person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. A BRIEF HISTORY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

Early historians record that in 1623, under the authority of an English land-grant, Captain John Mason, in conjunction with several others, sent David Thomson, a Scotchman, and Edward and Thomas Hilton, fish-merchants of London, with a number of other people in two divisions to establish a fishing colony in what is now New Hampshire, at the mouth of the Piscataqua River.

One of these divisions, under Thomson, settled near the river's mouth at a place they called Little Harbor or "Pannaway," now the town of Rye, where they erected salt-drying fish racks and a "factory" or stone house. The other division under the Hilton brothers set up their fishing stages on a neck of land eight miles above, which they called Northam, afterwards named Dover.

Nine years before that Captain John Smith of England and later of Virginia, sailing along the New England coast and inspired by the charm of our summer shores and the solitude of our countrysides, wrote back to his countrymen that:

"Here should be no landlords to rack us with high rents, or extorted fines to consume us. Here every man may be a master of his own labor and land in a short time. The sea there is the strangest pond I ever saw. What sport doth yield a more pleasant content and less hurt or charge than angling with a hook, and crossing the sweet air from isle to isle over the silent streams of a calm sea?"

Thus the settlement of New Hampshire did not happen because those who came here were persecuted out of England. The occasion, which is one of the great events in the annals of the English people, was one planned with much care and earnestness by the English crown and the English parliament. Here James the first began a colonization project which not only provided ships and provisions, but free land bestowed with but one important condition, that it remain always subject to English sovereignty.

So it remained until the "War of the Revolution." Smith first named it "North Virginia" but King James later revised this into "New England." To the map was added the name Portsmouth, taken from the English town where Captain John Mason was commander of the fort, and the name New Hampshire is that of his own English county of Hampshire.

Captain Mason died in 1635, just before his proposed trip to the new country which he never saw. He had invested more than twenty-two thousand pounds in clearing the land, building houses, and preparing for its defense, — a considerable fortune for those days. By then Dover and Portsmouth had expanded into Hampton and Exeter, and its income from fishing was increased by that from trade in furs and timber.

Taking the idea from the English government, a community of "towns" was erected, and this became a "royal province" in 1679 with John Cutt as president, with a population intended to be as nearly like England as it could be. The "royal province" continued until 1698 when it came under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts with Joseph Dudley as Governor. Thus it continued until 1741.

During that time England's throne had been ruled by William and Mary, Queen Anne, and George I, and New Hampshire was administered by no less than eight lieutenant governors. There had been much unrest in England and as a result, to New Hampshire's advantage, the Scotch settlers of Londonderry in Ireland had in 1719 sent many of their people here to form a "Scotch" colony in the new place they would call our own Londonderry.

Under King George II New Hampshire returned to its provincial status with a governor of its own, Benning Wentworth, who was its chief magistrate from 1741 to 1766.

During the first two decades of Governor Wentworth's term New Hampshire had been beset with Indian troubles. With little aid from England, then at war with its old-time enemy, France, the colonists undertook the sieges of Louisbourg, and helped to reduce Crown Point, and in the conquest of Canada. By the time of the signing of the Peace of Paris in 1762, and the end of the Indian fighting under the Rogers Rangers, the entire north country of New Hampshire was ready to be explored, surveyed, and populated.

Governor Wentworth who, as if in anticipation of this opportunity, seems to have been well prepared for it, had arranged the purchase for the sum of fifteen hundred pounds of the unauthenticated claims of Robert Mason, heir of Captain John Mason. This was done through a group of twelve influential citizens who called themselves the "Masonian Proprietors." Having done this, the governor kept the land "within the province."

Governor Wentworth, with all or most of the Masonian Proprietors as his councilors, then proceeded to grant towns to prospective settlers as equally as possible. In addition to the thirty-eight towns already granted, more than a hundred others followed after the year 1761. These towns contained lots available to more than thirty thousand families, many from the older towns in southern New Hampshire and Massachusetts, but many from other neighboring states. Some of these towns were located in Vermont, to be released later by a court order, which made the western shore of the Connecticut River the state boundary line.

While the new towns were occasionally given the names of the leading grantees, not a few of them bore the historic names of English royalty, frequently those of friends and relatives of Governor Wentworth and his own royal family, the Rockinghams, in England. Many of the beneficiaries were soldiers who had fought in the Indian wars, while a few were of Dutch origin, such as might settle from New York in New Hampshire.

The terms of the grants were simple. The Proprietors could convey only the soil, while the political rights and powers of government came from the province. Provision was made that no land should be subject to taxation or assessment until improved by those holding the titles. Rights were reserved for land for roads, churches and schools, to be built within a definite period of time, for the use of ministers and in many cases for mill-rights. Fees were nominal, often only a shilling or an ear of corn a year. All tall pines should be saved for the King's navy.

Benning Wentworth died in 1770. He was succeeded by his nephew who later became Sir John Wentworth, the last of the royal governors. He is perhaps best known because of his purchase of a thirty-six mile tract of land on the shore of Lake Winnepesaukee where he established an estate known as Kingswood. It afterward became Wolfborough.

Governor Sir John Wentworth's beneficial acts to the state included the building of roads, including one from Portsmouth to Kingswood; publishing the first accurate state map; organizing the State militia, a member of which was Major Benjamin Thompson of Concord who afterward became known as Count Rumford; his help in founding Dartmouth College; and the building of Wentworth House, now owned by the State. Loyal to the English crown, he embarked for Nova Scotia at the beginning of the Revolution, there to become its Lieutenant-governor until his death in 1820.

A pre-Revolution event occurring in New Hampshire was the removal in 1774, by a small party of patriots at New Castle, of the powder and guns at Fort William and Mary. Other Revolutionary events included New Hampshire's participation in the Battle of Bunker Hill at which nearly all the troops doing the actual fighting were said to have been from this State; the signing of the Declaration of Independence by New Hampshire's Josiah Bartlett, Matthew Thornton, and William Whipple; General John Stark's victory at the Battle of Bennington; and the success of Captain John Paul Jones at sea.

Just as it was the first to declare its independence and adopt its own constitution, New Hampshire was the ninth and deciding state in accepting the National Constitution as that of a republic, never to be known under any other form of government. New Hampshire's John Langdon was the first acting vice-president of the United States, and was President of the Senate when Washington was elected first president.

Many events have helped to individualize New Hampshire's unique history as the decades have followed each other down to the present time. Both Washington and Lafayette passed within our borders. Meshech Weare was elected the first state "president." Morey's Connecticut River steam-boat preceded Fulton's by seventeen years. An American President, Franklin Pierce, and a Vice-president, Henry Wilson, were elected, both from New Hampshire. Daniel Webster won his famous Dartmouth College case before the Supreme Court. The first American public library was established at Peterborough. The world-recognized "Concord Coach" was made here, as was America's first cog-railroad to Mount Washington dating 1869.

Statesmen, educators, inventors, preachers, scientists, explorers, authors, industrialists, engineers, lawyers, diplomats, are all arrayed in the long line of notables New Hampshire claims as coming from her soil.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION

New Hampshire is situated the most northern of the thirteen original states and lies between latitude 42-40 and 45-18 north and longitude 70-37 and 72-37 west. It is about 180 miles long and 50 miles wide, although the extreme width is 93 miles.

It is bounded on the north by Quebec province in Canada, on the east by Maine and the Atlantic ocean, on the south by Massachusetts, and on the west by Vermont. The Connecticut River is the western boundary.

"MOTHER OF RIVERS"

Geographies sometimes speak of the state as the "Mother of Rivers." Five of the great streams of New England originate in its granite hills. The Connecticut River rises in the northern part, and for nearly one hundred miles of its winding course hems the shores of the state with a "broad seam of silver." The Pemigewasset River starts in the Profile Lake in the Franconia mountains and joins the Winnepesaukee at Franklin to form the Merrimack, which at one time turned more spindles than any other river in the world. The Cocheco and Salmon Falls rivers join at Dover to form the Piscataqua. In addition, two of the principal rivers of Maine, the Androscoggin and the Saco, have their beginnings in northern New Hampshire.

New Hampshire has 1300 lakes or ponds and 40,000 miles of rivers and streams which provide year round fishing and recreation in scenic surroundings, as well as power for the State's many industries.

"THE GRANITE STATE"

New Hampshire is commonly known as the Granite State, and of late years by some writers is called the Queen State — "Queen by right of her natural beauty; queen by her native hardy spirit; queen by her diversified industry; queen by reason of her motherhood of great men. She is enthroned on hills of granite, diademed with sparkling waters and scented with industry."

The state entertains annually over a million summer visitors who resort in the mountain, lake and seashore scenery, — in fact it has been estimated that a million automobiles cross our borders annually! The soil is suitable for fruits, flowers and vegetables. The forests of pine, spruce and hard wood add beauty to the landscape and wealth to the land.

The White Mountains are the natural feature which has the widest fame. New Hampshire bodies of water cover one hundred and fifteen thousand acres and vary from small ponds to Lake Winnepesaukee, which is twenty-two miles long and eight miles wide.

New Hampshire's publicly-owned aerial tramway, the first erected to a mountain top in North America, is located in Franconia Notch near The Old Man of the Mountain. Its cars have carried 2,000,000 passengers in their eight-minute ascent of the 2022 feet to the top.

No state grows apples of finer flavor than come from the hillsides of New Hampshire. Horticultural shows have no better exhibits than are presented from towns in the southern part of this state, where the orchards have been sprayed and treated by the latest scientific methods. Strawberries, blueberries, peaches and products of the garden are grown in great quantities and shipped hundreds of miles.

New Hampshire is also famous for her products made from the sap of the maple tree.

Dairying is a large business and in recent years the quality of the herds has increased tenfold. There are 5,779,840 acres of land in the state, 1,960,061 acres being in farm land, with the number of farms estimated at 16,554, according to the 1940 farm census. There were over two and one-half million acres of timber land, which contained over thirty billion feet of merchantable timber, but the disastrous hurricane of 1938 has sadly depleted the standing timber in New Hampshire's granite hills.

It is estimated that every year more than four million dollars is permanently invested in the purchase of land and the construction of buildings in the rural districts. Nearly every town has some summer visitors. Winnepesaukee shores are lined with cottages and hotels; Sunapee has a summer population of over five thousand, who enjoy its beauties.

The state has a seaboard of about eighteen miles. Hampton and Rye beaches have been famous summer resorts since the days Whittier pitched his "tent on the beach." The salt waves of the Atlantic lap the sometimes sandy, sometimes rocky coast into one continuous pleasure ground, where surf bathing and scenic beauty enchant the visitor. In the early fall of 1915 a disastrous fire at Hampton Beach destroyed many of the hotels and places of business there, but the resort has since been rebuilt from the ruins until it is larger and more attractive than ever. The recreational area at Hampton Beach has greatly improved the appearance of that part of the coast. The state maintains a large public bath house and a parking area there. The erection of a sea wall in 1934 not only improved the property along the coast, but was a necessary measure against coast erosion.

Among New Hampshire's all-year, all-season recreation attractions, none are more popular than its winter sports. Mount Washington is the highest mountain east of the Rockies and north of the Mason-Dixon Line. Its privately-owned cog railway was the first mountain climbing railway in the world.

New Hampshire has some of the finest ski terrain in the east where the sport may be enjoyed well into July and August. Its many lifts include the widely known Cranmore skimobile, operated all year, and Tuckerman, Cannon, Sunapee and Gilford slopes.

Portsmouth, the only sea city, has an historic past and a prosperous present with its large navy yard. New Castle is a place of romance and aesthetic beauty and adventure. A large part of the Isles of Shoals in Portsmouth harbor belongs to New Hampshire, with their cottages and hotels. Lobster fishermen find the Isles of Shoals and the New Hampshire coast favorable areas for taking this famous sea food. The state highways are as fine as any state can boast of and are kept in excellent driving condition the year round. New Hampshire is open to visitors, from the coast to the mountains, twelve months in the year.

FISH AND GAME

In 1865 New Hampshire joined the vanguard of American science by establishing a fish and game department, the first one of its kind in New England. Since that date, some eighty odd years ago, the efforts of this department have been devoted to the propagation and conservation of fish and game.

In modern times the cultivation of fish and the protection of wild life have demanded the application of scientific methods quite as much as any other element of our life. It is a known fact that while European countries have found vast resources in their shore fisheries, the United States is by no means able to rely on her coast fisheries, and has thus been obliged to develop her inland waters to meet the needs that otherwise could have been met only by importation from other countries. Moreover, while Europe's supply is bound to lessen in time to come, our supply will continue to increase.

Today, New Hampshire's Fish and Game Department employs a balanced team of trained wildlife men, fish culturists, and law enforcement officers to maintain and increase the available supplies of her native species under the pressure of vastly increased demand. To do so means that every one of her waters and every bit of cover must be contributing its full share to the state's crop. Research personnel are constantly exploring new avenues to increase natural productivity, while evaluating the results of current practices.

Since World War II, a program of modernization and expansion of fish rearing facilities has more than doubled the annual output available for stocking. Beautiful new rearing stations which rank with any in the country for modern design and efficient operation have been built at Merrymeeting Lake in New Durham, at Summer Brook in Ossipee, and at Merrimack, between Manchester and Nashua. Five other stations at Colebrook, Twin Mountain, Warren, New Hampton, and Richmond have been completely reconditioned.

Fish and game is now recognized as a major factor in the recreation business which is one of New Hampshire's foremost sources of revenue. We can be justly proud of the effective teamwork between department personnel and the sportsmen of the state who are looking forward with the eye of true conservationists to establishing the fish and wildlife species of our state on a secure footing for future years. Deer, grouse, black bear, snowshoe hares, landlocked salmon, togue, black bass, and several species of brook trout are only a few of the wild residents which are to be found in such plenty as to make sportsmen choose New Hampshire first.

"COME TO NEW HAMPSHIRE"

New Hampshire believes in progress and development in every direction. It is the third most industrialized state in the Union and prizes itself on the quality and diversification of its products. New Hampshire is the home of the famous breed of poultry known as the "New Hampshires." She invites the whole world to visit her mountains, the "playground of America." Those seeking opportunity for profitable farming will do well to write for further information to the Commissioner of Agriculture, Concord, N. H.; sportsmen are invited to send for literature and advice to the Fish and Game Director, Concord, N. H.; those looking for business openings, either in manufacturing enterprises or in the retail field, should correspond with the New Hampshire Dept. of Resources and Economic Development, Concord, N. H.

THE STATE HOUSE

The first discussions regarding the erection of a suitable state capitol building in New Hampshire took place in the year 1814. It was indeed a memorable year. The War of 1812 had come to a close with the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, although the news had not reached America until after our troops under General Jackson had continued fighting into 1815 and won the famous battle of New Orleans.

Other matters attracted state attention. One was the election of a "Republican" governor, William Plumer, who defeated the "Federalists." Another was the Dartmouth College case in which the Governor favored state domination of the College. The legislature considered the proposed new capitol building, but first had to determine in what locality it would be.

The contest was between Concord, Hopkinton, and Salisbury, the last named town having offered seven thousand dollars for the honor. In the end Concord won, and by 1816 final action had been taken to build there.

Considerable expense was saved the town of Concord by the decision to build the Capitol of granite from what are now the Swenson quarries at the north end of the town, and to have the cutting and shaping and facing of the stones done by the inmates of the prison.

A feature of the new and imposing building thus provided was its huge gold-painted wooden eagle, which was raised to the top of the dome in 1818. Appropriate ceremonies presided over by Governor Plumer were marked by a series of toasts, one of which was, "The American Eagle. May the shadow of his wings protect every acre of our united continent and the lightning of his eye flash terror and defeat through the ranks of our enemies."

The new building's actual cost was only approximately $82,000, but it provided adequate quarters for the legislature and committees, the Governor and Council, the Secretary of State, the Treasurer, and the library. Stuart J. Park, the builder, goes down in history as having done an admirable job, and he has a Concord street to the north of the building, Park Street, named in his honor. The first session of the legislature to be held in the new building was in 1819.

There is no record of discussion of enlargements or expansion of Capitol facilities until 1857. At that time there was pointed out the need for more library space and rooms for new departments. Nothing was done, however, until the problem became acute in one of the Civil War years, 1863, through the offer of the city of Manchester of a sizeable sum to build a new capitol and locate it there. This amount was stated to be no less than half a million dollars.

The legislature having voted to retain the Capitol in Concord, plans were at once made to undertake its enlargement and remodeling. This was begun in 1864 and completed by 1866. The cost was said to have been approximately $200,000.

In 1881, plans having been proposed to gain new space for needs caused by growth in State operations, by the removal of the library to a building of its own, plans for such a building were made. These plans, as ultimately adopted, not only provided for a "State Library," but for the Supreme Court as well, and the building was finally completed in 1895. The Library was later enlarged in 1903.

Not until 1903 was the problem of increasing needs for more space in the conduct of the State's business to come under discussion. In this discussion the point was conclusively made that "the majority of State offices cannot be provided with accommodations and are located in other buildings . . ." and that this was uneconomical and ought to be corrected.

Acting under a resolution which instructed the Governor and Council to remedy this situation, Governor Bachelder employed a firm of Boston architects to prepare a plan for an extensive enlargement of the Capitol.

The arguments included the danger from fire, the inadequacy of the House and Senate to seat the membership, and the lack of meeting rooms for the legislative committees. This called for what amounted to an entirely new state house at an expense of approximately a million dollars, and by 1909 a bill for such an amount was introduced.

Again the city of Manchester entered the scene, offering the million if the state house might be removed and rebuilt there. The legislature voted again to retain the Capitol in Concord, and an act for the issuance of bonds for the construction required was passed.

Governor Quimby and his Council then employed architects under whose plans the entire building was remodeled precisely as it is today, making the entire building fire-proof in all its parts, providing electric elevators, modern lighting, vaults, and an up-to-date heating system. During the years following, the proposal of 1903 regarding the necessity of providing for the various departments under one head was again considered, and plans were drawn in 1937 for the present State House Annex.

The corner-stone for this new undertaking was laid in 1938, and the cost at completion, including a considerable grant from the federal government, amounted to $327,000. Here are housed more than twenty of the State's departments in modern, well-equipped offices. The Annex is connected by an underground passageway with the Capitol itself.

Since the building of the Annex, other improvements have been undertaken to keep the State government in step with modern progress. Recently the entire outer surface of the Capitol Building has been expertly sanded and washed, restoring the granite stones to their original clean, fresh appearance.

Likewise the statues of John Stark, Daniel Webster, President Pierce, John P. Hale, and Commodore Perkins have been properly cleaned and made tarnishproof by a modern professional process. Also the gilded wooden eagle, the Capitol Building's long familiar emblem, having been found to be suffering from the effects of many decades of weathering, has been replaced by an element-proof metal replica which now adorns the dome where its gold will glisten in the sunshine of long years to come. These things are among the accomplishments of the administration of Governor Lane Dwinell.

As parts of Massachusetts Bay Colony (1641-3 to 1679) the towns of Hampton, Exeter, Dover, and Strawberry Bank were comprised within Norfolk county, which was one of the four shires, viz., Essex, Middlesex, Suffolk, and Norfolk, into which the Bay Colony was separated from "3d month, 10th day 1643."

The Province of New Hampshire agitated the subject of county establishment for years previous to decisive action in 1769, one plan, which came to nought in 1755, being to make two counties, Portsmouth and Cumberland, with the Merrimack as the dividing line.

The act which passed April 29, 1769, contained the provision that it should not take effect until "his majesty's royal approbation thereof be known," and the further provision that "said counties of Strafford and Grafton shall be for the present annexed to and deemed and taken as parts and members of the County of Rockingham  until the governor by and with the advice of the council shall declare them respectively sufficient for the exercise of their respective jurisdictions and no longer." Governor John Wentworth, in a message to the house of representatives in March, 1771, said "it gives me great pleasure to inform you that his majesty has been graciously pleased to approve and confirm the act for dividing this Province into counties." The existence of Rockingham, Hillsborough, and Cheshire counties began on March 19, 1771, Strafford and Grafton having received authority to exercise and enjoy county privileges, as set forth in Governor John Wentworth's message to the house on May 28, 1772, their separation from Rockingham became effective on June 5, 1773, by the terms of the act of February 5, 1773, "fixing the times and places for holding courts in  Grafton county," four months being allowed for the building of "prisons, court houses," etc.

THE COUNTIES

When New Hampshire was a part of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, from 1641 to 1679, the principal towns of New Hampshire were part of Norfolk county in Massachusetts. New Hampshire did not divide herself into counties, however, until 1769, six years before the Revolution. In that year the five counties of Rockingham, Strafford, Hillsborough, Cheshire and Grafton were established.

Coos was the sixth county, established in 1803. Merrimack was established in 1823, Sullivan in 1827, and Belknap and Carroll in 1840. Since the original division into counties the legislature on twenty occasions has amended and changed the layout. The following is a list of counties in their customary order, giving the name of each, the date of its establishment and the place of the county seat.

Name	Date	County Seat
Belknap	1840	Laconia
Carroll	1840	Ossipee
Cheshire	1769	Keene
Coos	1803	Lancaster
Grafton	1769	Haverhill

UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Under the constitutional apportionment which provided for a house of representatives in congress, New Hampshire was allotted three seats. The national census of 1790 (first census) increased this to four, the second census of 1800 to five and the third census of 1810 to six seats. The census of 1830 reduced it to five, that of 1840 to four and that of 1850 to three. The census of 1870 reduced it to two, but the seat taken away was restored until the next census of 1880, since when the state has had two representatives.

Revolutionary Councilors, 1776-84

Article 60 of the second part of the constitution provides for an executive council of five men to advise and act with the governor. Before the constitution there was a council both under the temporary constitution of the Revolution and under the provincial government. The following is a complete list of all the councilors since the Revolution giving the name and address of each and the year in which he was elected or appointed.

THE SENATE

The senate began under the constitution and first met in 1784. There were at first twelve senators who represented the five counties that then existed, five senators from Rockingham county, two from Strafford, two from Hillsborough, two from Cheshire and one from Grafton. In 1793 senatorial districts were created to take the place of county representation and each district elected one senator. The elections during the early years took place in March and the legislature met in June annually.

The senatorial districting of 1793 was changed over in 1803 and several times subsequently. In 1878 the senate was doubled in size. In 1915 the senators were elected by plurality instead of majority vote. The following is a complete list of the senators from the beginning, showing the name and residence of each member of each senate, arranged in the order of districts from 1793, when the districts were created, and previous to that year, in the order of counties.

FEDERAL CENSUS

THE UNITED STATES

The United States is composed of fifty states, one district, one commonwealth, and five major non-contiguous territories and possessions.

The republic originated in the rebellion of the British Colonies of North America, Canada excepted, in 1776, and in the Declaration of Independence, the thirteen colonies in revolt styled themselves "The United States of America."

The Canadian boundary line is 3,900 miles in length, the Mexican boundary line being 1,975 miles in length.

According to the 1940 Federal census, the first basic re-measurement of the land and water area of the continental United States since 1880 showed a total area of 3,022,387 square miles, consisting of 2,977,128 square miles land area, and 45,259 square miles inland water area. The total area of Alaska, according to this census, is 586,400 square miles and the total area of Hawaii is 6,419 square miles.

The Capitol of the United States is at Washington, D. C. The corner stone of the original building was laid on September 18, 1793 by President George Washington. The original building was finally completed in 1827, its cost, including the grading of grounds, alterations and repairs up to that year, having been $2,433,844.13.

FEDERAL CENSUS OF 1960

Number of Inhabitants

The State. New Hampshire was one of the Thirteen Original States. Its population on April 1, 1960, according to the Eighteenth Census, was 606,921. The State has a land area of 9,017 square miles. In 1960 there was an average of 67.3 inhabitants per square mile as compared with an average of 59.1 in 1950. Among the States and the District of Columbia, New Hampshire ranked 45th in population and 44th in land area.

In 1790 New Hampshire had a population of 141,885 (Table 1). In 1960, 170 years later, its population was over four times as large. The rate of population growth of the State has been consistently below that for the Nation as a whole. In the twentieth century, the intercensal rates of growth ranged from a low of 2.9 per cent to a record high of 13.8 per cent. In 1900 the population of the State was 411,588, and in 1950 it was 533,242.

Usual place of residence. In accordance with census practice dating back to 1790, each person enumerated in the 1960 Census was counted as an inhabitant of his usual place of residence or usual place of abode, which is generally construed to mean the place where he lives and sleeps most of the time. This place is not necessarily the same as his legal residence, voting residence, or domicile; however, in the vast majority of cases, the use of these different bases of classification would produce substantially the same statistics, although there may be appreciable differences for a few areas.

In the application of this rule, persons were not always counted as residents of the place in which they happened to be found by the census enumerators. Persons in the larger hotels, motels, and similar places where guests usually pay for quarters were enumerated on the night of March 31, and those whose usual place of residence was elsewhere were allocated to their homes. In addition, information on persons away from their usual place of residence was obtained from other members of their families, landlords, etc. If an entire family was expected to be away during the whole period of the enumeration, information on it was obtained from neighbors. A matching process was used to eliminate duplicate reports for a person who reported for himself while away from his usual residence and who was also reported at his usual residence by someone else.

Persons in the Armed Forces quartered on military installations were enumerated as residents of the States, counties, and minor civil divisions in which their installations were located. Members of their families were enumerated where they actually resided. As in 1950, college students were considered residents of the communities in which they were residing while attending college. The crews of vessels of the U. S. Navy and the American Merchant Marine in harbors of the United States were counted as part of the population of the ports in which their vessels were berthed on April 1, 1960. Inmates of institutions, who ordinarily live there for long periods of time, were counted as inhabitants of the place in which the institution was located; whereas patients in general hospitals, who ordinarily remain for short periods of time, were counted at, or allocated to, their homes. Persons without a usual place of residence were counted where they were enumerated.

Americans who were overseas for an extended period (in the Armed Forces, working at civilian jobs, studying in foreign universities, etc.) are not included in the population of any of the States or the District of Columbia. On the other hand, persons temporarily abroad on vacations, business trips, and the like, were enumerated at their usual residences on the basis of information received from members of their families or from neighbors.

Urban-rural residence. Data on the population of the State by urban-rural residence are shown for the State in Table 1 and for the counties, or comparable areas, in Table 6.* According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see section below); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more.

This definition of urban is substantially the same as that used in 1950; the major difference between 1950 and 1960 is the designation in 1960 of urban towns in New England and of urban townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The effect on population classification arising from this change was actually less than the list of those places classified as urban under special rules would suggest, because, in 1950, most of the population living in such places was classified as urban by virtue of residence in an urbanized area or in an unincorporated urban place. (See following sections.) In censuses prior to 1950, the urban population comprised all persons living in incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more and areas (usually minor civil divisions) classified as urban under somewhat different special rules relating to population size and density. In all definitions, the population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population. In the tables presenting the population by urban-rural residence, the "current" urban definition refers to the population classified in accordance with the definitions used in 1950 and 1960. The term "previous" urban definition refers to the definition used prior to 1950.

The most important component of the urban territory in all definitions is the group of incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more. A definition of urban territory restricted to such places, however, excludes a number of equally large and densely settled places merely because they are not incorporated places. Under the definition used previous to 1950, an effort was made to avoid some of the more obvious omissions by the inclusion of selected places which were classified as urban under special rules. Even with these rules, however, many large and closely built-up places were excluded from the urban territory.

To improve its measure of the urban population, the Bureau of the Census adopted, in 1950, the concept of the urbanized area and delineated, in advance of enumeration, boundaries for unincorporated places. All the population residing in urban-fringe areas and in unincorporated places of 2,500 or more is classified as urban according to the "current" definition. The urban towns, townships, and counties as defined for the 1960 Census are somewhat similar in concept to the minor civil divisions classified as urban under special rules in 1940 and 1930.

For the convenience of those interested in the historical trend of the urban and rural population, the 1950 and 1960 population figures are shown on the basis of both the "current" definition and the "previous" definition. Although the Bureau of the Census has employed other definitions of "urban" in prior years, the urban and rural population figures published here as according to the "previous" definition have been revised to present a substantially consistent series.

Minor civil divisions. To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau of the Census applies the general term "minor civil divisions." Statistics on the population of each county or comparable area by minor civil divisions appear in Table 7.* Incorporated places which are not themselves minor civil divisions and unincorporated places are shown indented under the minor civil divisions in which they are located. When an incorporated or unincorporated place lies in more than one minor civil division, the population of the several parts is shown in table 7 under the appropriate minor civil division, and each part is designated as "part." The total population of such places appears in table 8. Unincorporated places are designated by "U" and urban towns and townships by "UT." Changes effected between 1950 and 1960 in boundaries of the areas are shown in the notes at the end of Table 7.* Boundary changes occurring between 1940 and 1950 are given in Table 6 of State reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

*In State reports of the 1960 Census of Population.

Places. The term "place" as used in reports of the decennial censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, the larger unincorporated places outside the urbanized areas were delineated and those with a population of 1,000 or more are presented in the same manner as incorporated places of equal size. Each unincorporated place possesses a definite nucleus of residences and has its boundaries drawn so as to include, if feasible, all the surrounding closely settled area. Furthermore, unincorporated places are shown within urbanized areas if they have 10,000 inhabitants or more and if there was an expression of local interest in their recognition. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places. Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the decennial censuses are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin. The towns in these States are minor civil divisions similar to the townships found in other States and not necessarily thickly settled centers of population such as the cities, boroughs, towns, and villages in other States. Similarly, in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, where some townships possess powers and functions similar to those of incorporated places, the townships are not classified as "incorporated places." Thus some minor civil divisions which are "incorporated" in one legal sense of the word are not regarded by the Census Bureau as "incorporated places." Without this restriction all of the towns in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin and the townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania would have to be counted as incorporated places without any consideration of the nature of population settlement. A number of towns and townships in these States do qualify, however, as urban towns or townships and in others the densely settled portions are recognized as unincorporated places or as parts of an urban fringe.

Unincorporated places. As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in Tables 7 and 8.* Population data for 1950 are shown only for those unincorporated places which had the same name in both 1950 and 1960. Of course, the boundaries of many such places have changed as the communities have grown.

Urban places. The count of urban places in 1960 includes all incorporated and unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more, and the towns, townships, and counties classified as urban. Under the “previous” urban definition, places of 2,500 or more and the areas urban under special rules were urban places.

*In State reports of the 1960 Census of Population.

Urbanized areas. The major objective of the Bureau of the Census in delineating urbanized areas was to provide a better separation of urban and rural population in the vicinity of the larger cities, but individual urbanized areas have proved to be useful statistical areas. They correspond to what are called “conurbations” in some other countries. An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1960,¹ as well as the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that meet the criteria listed below. All persons residing in an urbanized area are included in the urban population.

It appeared desirable to delineate the urbanized areas in terms of the 1960 Census results rather than prior to the census as was done in 1950. For this purpose a peripheral zone around each 1950 urbanized area and around cities that were presumably approaching a population of 50,000 was recognized. Within the unincorporated parts of this zone small enumeration districts were planned,² usually including no more than one square mile of land area and no more than 75 housing units.

Arrangements were made to include within the urbanized area those enumeration districts meeting specified criteria of population density as well as adjacent incorporated places. Since the urbanized area outside of incorporated places was defined in terms of enumeration districts, the boundaries for the most part follow such features as roads, streets, railroads, streams, and other clearly defined lines which may be easily identified by census enumerators in the field and often do not conform to the boundaries of political units.

In addition to its central city or cities, an urbanized area also contains the following types of contiguous areas, which together constitute its urban fringe:

1. Incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more
2. Incorporated places with less than 2,500 inhabitants, provided each has a closely settled area of 100 dwelling units or more
3. Towns in the New England States, townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and counties elsewhere which are classified as urban
4. Enumeration districts in unincorporated territory with a population density of 1,000 inhabitants or more per square mile (The area ¹There are a few urbanized areas where there are “twin central cities” that have a combined population of at least 50,000. See the section on “Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas” in State reports of the 1960 Census of Population for further discussion of twin central cities, neither of which has a population of 50,000 or more.

²An enumeration district (ED) is a small area assigned to an enumerator which must be canvassed and reported separately. In most cases an ED contains approximately 250 housing units.

of large nonresidential tracts devoted to such urban land uses as railroad yards, factories and cemeteries, was excluded in computing the population density of an enumeration district.)

5. Other enumeration districts in unincorporated territory with lower population density provided that they served one of the following purposes:

- a. To eliminate enclaves
- b. To close indentations in the urbanized area of one mile or less across the open end
- c. To link outlying enumeration districts of qualifying density that were no more than $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the main body of the urbanized area.

Contiguous urbanized areas with central cities in the same standard metropolitan statistical area are combined. Urbanized areas with central cities in different standard metropolitan statistical areas are not combined, except that a single urbanized area was established in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey Standard Consolidated Area, and in the Chicago-Northwestern Indiana Standard Consolidated Area.

The boundaries of the urbanized areas for 1960 will not conform to those for 1950, partly because of actual changes in land use and density of settlement, and partly because of relatively minor changes in the rules used to define the boundaries. The changes in the rules include the following:

1. The use of enumeration districts to construct the urbanized areas in 1960 resulted in a less precise definition than in 1950 when the limits were selected in the field using individual blocks as the unit of area added. On the other hand, the 1960 procedures produced an urbanized area based on the census results rather than an area defined about a year before the census, as in 1950.

2. Unincorporated territory was included in the 1950 urbanized area if it contained at least 500 dwelling units per square mile, which is a somewhat different criterion than the 1,000 persons or more per square mile of the included 1960 unincorporated areas.

3. The 1960 areas include those entire towns in New England, townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and counties that are classified as urban in accordance with the criteria listed in the section on urban-rural residence. The 1950 criteria permitted the exclusion of portions of these particular minor civil divisions.

In general, however, the urbanized areas of 1950 and 1960 are based on essentially the same concept, and the figures for a given urbanized area may be used to measure the population growth of that area.

An urbanized area may be thought of as divided into the central city, or cities, and the remainder of the area, or the urban fringe. Any city in an urbanized area which is a central city of a standard metropolitan statistical area is also a central city of the urbanized area. With but two exceptions, the names of the central cities appear in the titles of the areas. The central cities of the New York-Northeastern New Jersey Area are the central cities of the New York, Newark, Jersey City, and Paterson-Clifton-Passaic Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas. Likewise, the central cities of the Chicago-Northwestern Indiana Area are the central cities of the Chicago and Gary-Hammond-East Chicago Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas.

Data for the entire urbanized area are shown in Table 10 for each State in which a central city of the area is located.* If that part of an urbanized area that extends into another State does not include a central city, data are shown only for that part within the State.

*In State reports of the 1960 Census of Population.

Under the old definition, incorporated places of 2,500 or more and places urban under special rule are classified as urban places.

RECOUNTS AFTER THE PRIMARY

After the Primary, twelve recounts of ballots were conducted by the Secretary of State, October 1-4, 1968; six recounts were Republican contests, and six were Democratic contests. The recount of Governor, Republican ticket, was conceded by Wesley Powell before completion of the count. None of the recounts resulted in a change of nominee. The recount of Representative, Nashua — Ward 7 (Hillsborough County District No. 20), Democratic, resulted in a tie between Adelard J. Aubut and Treffe G. Levesque. The tie was broken by drawing lots and Adelard J. Aubut won the draw.

Following are the tables, with the nominees of the Republican and Democratic parties indicated by an asterisk.

REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM

Adopted at the Republican State Convention
Concord, New Hampshire, September 22, 1968

PREAMBLE

We, the Republican Party of New Hampshire, in convention assembled on this twenty-second day of September in the year of our Lord nineteen-hundred and sixty-eight, do hereby present to all the people of New Hampshire the following statement of principles and pledges in the belief that it represents a progressive program which will serve the best interests of all the citizens of our State.

New Hampshire urgently needs new leadership . . . leadership which is both courageous and understanding . . . leadership which will develop imaginative new approaches to assure full opportunity for all our citizens.

We need new leadership which will face up to and resolve the basic problems confronting the people of New Hampshire . . . leadership which will enable us to:

- bring about equal educational opportunity for all;
- assure every individual an opportunity for satisfying and rewarding employment;
- eliminate the root causes of poverty, and eradicate racism, hatred, and violence;
- re-establish fiscal responsibility and allow all our citizens to participate fully in the State's prosperity;
- give increasing attention to the views of our young people and recognize their key role in our present, as well as in our future;
- mobilize the resources, talents, and energy of both the public and private sectors to reach these goals, utilizing the unique strength and initiative of our state and local governments.

We ask all Americans who are uncertain about the future, and frustrated about the recent past, to recall the leadership given to this Party by Abraham Lincoln . . . and in the spirit which he personified, let us remember his words of advice: "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphans, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

Thus fortified with these thoughts, we offer this platform to the people of New Hampshire:

Agriculture:

The Republican Party supports a workable state meat inspection law to assure wholesome local meat for the consumer.

We commend the New Hampshire Department of Employment Security for its assistance in obtaining foreign and migrant labor, and we urge the United States Secretary of Labor to approve at an earlier date the number of workers to be imported for agricultural purposes.

We commend the Cooperative Extension Service for its help to our farmers in bringing them the results of the latest agricultural research. We believe that the Extension Service can perform an even more vital educational function through the area agent program of specialized instruction.

We recommend a feasibility study of the establishment of an animal laboratory and research center for the protection of our dairy, live-stock, and saddle horse industry.

We recommend passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 7 which would make possible the assessing of real estate on a current use basis rather than on a theoretical potential development value. It is important that the enabling legislation provide for the recapture of lost taxes.

Crime:

The Republican Party commends the conscientious efforts of our law enforcement officers in their attempt to check the rising crime rate. We condemn the Democrat administration and its Attorney General for their failure to enforce adequately the laws and to eliminate the criminal element.

We pledge to establish a non-partisan New Hampshire Crime Commission made up of representatives of state, county, and local governments, and members of the public at large.

We also feel that the State should lend its efforts to educational programs in the areas of law enforcement and should offer more assistance to local law enforcement agencies.

Education:

The Republican Party will strive to assist in providing equal educational opportunity for all New Hampshire students. We pledge an increase in state aid to local districts; implementation of an updated millage formula for the University of New Hampshire with no tuition increase for in-state students; continued expansion of the Republican-sponsored technical and vocational school program; and development of a state junior college program.

We recommend the establishment of a medical school and hospital complex affiliated with the University system and preferably located in one of the major communities of the State.

We urge more flexible administration of teacher certification standards.

We favor federal tax credits for those burdened with the costs of higher education and tax deductions to encourage savings for this purpose.

We pledge to initiate legislation making mandatory the education of the exceptional, handicapped, and mentally retarded.

We favor the establishment of a professional negotiation law.

We recognize the importance of our classroom teachers and further recognize the responsibility to compensate them with professional salaries.

Recognizing the importance of non-public schools to our state's educational system, we recommend a study of the financial problems of the parochial and private schools of New Hampshire.

Fish and Game:

The Republican Party pledges a renewed interest in the protection of the rights of New Hampshire sportsmen. We reaffirm our opposition to regulation through further federal and state gun registration laws. To avoid the imposition of federal gun registration and licensing laws on New Hampshire citizens, the state laws pertaining to firearms sale and possession should be reviewed to see that they adequately prevent the obtaining of firearms by felons, drug addicts, insane persons, and other persons in whose hands firearms would be dangerous.

Health and Welfare:

The Republican Party initiated the program of state aid for local mental health clinics. We pledge our continuing support in the further establishment and expansion of local mental health and child guidance clinics.

We pledge to better conditions and improve the services at the New Hampshire Hospital.

Recognizing that the cost of hospitalization has far outstripped the citizens' ability to pay, we urge a study of the rising costs of hospital care.

The Republican Party requests the next Legislature to study provisions for additional responsibility for board and care of foster children.

Highways:

The Republican Party pledges to renew the accelerated highway and road-building program of the last Republican administration. We urge completion of the interstate highway system in New Hampshire and completion of the master plan for primary and secondary highways and town roads, including the construction of Route 101 as an expressway from Keene to Portsmouth and the extension northward of the Spaulding Turnpike.

Recognizing that the natural beauty of New Hampshire's highways is one of our greatest assets, we urge that every effort be made to maintain and beautify our highway system. We pledge to implement further programs to control highway litter and unsightly billboards.

We recommend that a greater percentage of the state gas tax revenues be allocated for use on local roads.

Industry:

The Republican Party pledges to resume its leadership in recruiting new industries and expanding existing industries. We urge that every effort be made to utilize the talents of those trained in our New Hampshire vocational and technical institutes.

We strongly favor the reduction of freight rates to and from New England. We commend our Republican Congressional delegation for its efforts to keep freight rates down and pledge to pursue this issue.

Labor:

The Republican Party recognizes that New Hampshire's greatest need is a labor force with a higher spendable income. We pledge to work towards higher wages with particular emphasis on raising minimum wages in service industries and on attracting those technical industries with higher wage scales.

Local Government:

The Republican Party has traditionally stood for strong local government. We promise a return to close cooperation between state and local governments and the support of home rule.

Pollution Control:

The Republican Party initiated state aid for local anti-pollution programs. We believe, however, that local governments should be required to implement only those programs in which the state and federal governments are prepared to fund their share in advance.

We encourage the utilization of existing local authorities in the establishment of state and federal pollution controls.

We believe that the problems of air and water pollution, already acute in many areas, demand vigorous state and federal action, regional planning, and maximum cooperation among neighboring cities, counties, and states.

Press:

The Republican Party abhors abuse of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of the press. It deplors any misuse of this public trust, particularly that which spreads hatred and bigotry. We support freedom of speech and freedom of the press and urge that such vital freedoms be cherished and exercised in a responsible manner.

Recreation:

The Republican Party leadership made possible unprecedented development of New Hampshire's great natural resources and the expansion of recreational facilities, thereby encouraging tourism and prosperity. We pledge to reinstate those programs and expand our state's promotional efforts.

We recommend that in-state residents receive special preferential rate treatment in state-owned recreational areas as long as such treatment shall not act to the detriment of private business within the state.

We also pledge to encourage the expansion and development of recreational areas by the private sector.

State Employees:

The Republican Party commends the state employees for their faithful and efficient service to New Hampshire and recommends wage adjustments based on the cost of living index.

We advocate that all state employees be paid on an equitable basis for time spent in official duties.

We favor the establishment of a professional negotiation law for all state employees.

State Government:

The Republican Party believes a government's first concern should be the immediate needs of all its people.

We recognize the necessity of a better and more efficient state government and seek to marshal the efforts of our citizens to that end. We strongly urge the creation of a bi-partisan Citizen Task Force by the Governor so that the energies and talents of New Hampshire's people can be fully utilized in developing positive solutions to the State's problems.

We also recommend the following:

- (1) A four-year term for the office of Governor.
- (2) Implementation of a cabinet form of government.
- (3) Implementation of annual legislative sessions.

Sweepstakes:

The Republican Party recognizes the failure of the Democrat Governor in utilizing properly the sweepstakes program and the resulting failure in production of expected revenue. We, therefore, recommend a review and thorough overhaul of the program.

Taxation:

The Republican Party does not propose any new taxes. We pledge that no new spending bill will be approved without adequate funding.

Thrift is one of the characteristics that has made our country great. NOW is NOT the time to ignore it. There is a real need for positive leadership that will make the best use of what we have before asking for more. We want to prove that the present tax dollars are being used wisely and well before we provide more money for state government.

We therefore pledge our best efforts to strongly resist new and higher taxes through the use of tighter fiscal controls and more efficient use of the resources at our disposal.

The Republican Party will continue to be honest with the people of New Hampshire and pledges a return to balanced budgets.

Utility Rates:

The Republican Party urges the Public Utilities Commission to do all within its jurisdiction to effect lower utility rates, including electric power, gas, and telephone rates, in order to attract new industry and to benefit our New Hampshire citizens.

Veterans:

The Republican Party pledges to protect the rights and privileges of all veterans and to extend to the veterans of the Viet Nam conflict all benefits now available to veterans of World War I, World War II, and Korea.

Young People:

The Republican Party recognizes that America, more than any other nation, reflects the strength and creative energy of its young people. In every productive enterprise the vigor, imagination, and skills of our youth have contributed immeasurably to progress.

Young people today are endowed with greater knowledge and maturity than any such generation of the past. Their political restlessness reflects their urgent hope to achieve a meaningful participation in public affairs commensurate with their contributions as responsible citizens.

In recognition of the abilities of these younger citizens, their desire to participate, and their service in the nation's defense, we believe that eighteen-year-olds should be accorded the right to vote.

We encourage responsible young men and women to join actively in the political process to help shape the future of the State. We invite them to join our Republican effort to assure the new direction and the new leadership which this State so urgently needs and rightfully expects.

In order that this platform may be brought to fruition, we earnestly seek the trust and support of all the voters of New Hampshire in electing our candidates who have pledged to fulfill these promises in the future administration of the government of our State and Nation.

In closing, let us recall these words:

We dwell in times of great perplexity and are beset by far-reaching problems of social, industrial and political import. We shall not greatly err if upon occasion we consult the genius of Abraham Lincoln. We shall not falter nor swerve from the path of national righteousness if we live by the moral genius of the great American commoner.

In these, our times of great perplexity, let us rededicate ourselves to the ideals of Lincoln. Let the people know our commitment to provide the dynamic leadership which they rightly expect of this Party . . . the Party not of empty promises, but of performance . . . the Party not of wastefulness, but of responsibility . . . the Party not of war, but the Party whose administrations have been characterized by peace . . . the Republican Party.

To these ends, we solemnly pledge to every New Hampshire citizen that we shall provide new leadership . . . and lead them in new directions.

DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION

THE 1968 NEW HAMPSHIRE DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM

Preamble

New Hampshire and our nation are at a critical cross-roads in 1968. This has been a year of conflict and tragedy, but not without hope and opportunity.

The Democratic Party joins with the people in demanding that new challenges be met boldly. We will not be satisfied with ideas without vision or words without courage. Rhetoric is no substitute for action.

The Democratic Party refuses to ask for support based on its past substantial accomplishments alone, but we pledge to respond vigorously to the present and future needs of the people. We join with and welcome the support of all citizens who struggle bravely for a new America.

We, the delegates of the New Hampshire Democratic Party in Convention assembled this 21st day of September 1968, do hereby adopt our 1968 Platform — our plan, to cut a trail across the rugged terrain that lies ahead.

Agriculture

There is cause for concern because of certain trends and developments which work a peculiar hardship on our farmers. Statistics show that for his hours of hard labor and discerning management a farmer receives about the lowest income of any economic group. With respect to capital invested in land, buildings, and equipment, his percentage return is discouragingly low. Such conditions, which have developed over a period of time, cannot be cured overnight but helpful steps can be taken to reverse the trend.

The following steps are recommended:

- Support of proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 7 which would allow the legislature to enact legislation permitting land used for agricultural production to be taxed according to present rather than potential use, and that any legislation adopted thereunder include a tax recapture provision for municipalities.
- Support of federal efforts to assure that fruit and vegetable growers obtain sufficient seasonal farm workers, at an adequate wage.

- Insistence that freight rates for grain and other commodities be comparable to rates in other sections of the country.
- Continued financial support of the College of Agriculture, the Co-operative Extension Service, and the Experiment Station at the University of New Hampshire to ensure modern research, training, and agricultural service.
- Creation of local public forums for discussion of such problems as food supply, agricultural labor, and the impact of consumer prices, where farmers, organized labor, business, industry, consumers, and appropriate state and federal agencies may exchange views.
- Encouragement of production credit financing for farmers.
- Support of an adequate meat inspection law to meet the new federal requirements.
- Support of the following: 1) the creation of a new standard for food and agriculture inspection since present ones are more than 50 years old. (The federal government will substantially meet these costs, but New Hampshire must provide approved laboratory service.); 2) an augmented and improved rabies control program; 3) an animal disease control program to replace the federal program which is being turned over to the states; 4) an improved Gypsy Moth Control Program; 5) laboratory services for large animals at a new Research and Pathology Center at the University of New Hampshire or by contracting for reliable service from regional institutions.
- Support of measures to study the impact of new properly-labeled artificial milk products in order to protect the interests of both dairy farmer and consumer.

Consumer Affairs

It has been estimated that the average family could save approximately $920 per year, with no reduction or alteration in consumption, through informed and deception-free purchasing and financing. The total gain to New Hampshire's consumers would exceed $13.5 million per year if only ten percent of this waste could be salvaged by legislative action. Income so saved would effectively increase the real standard of living of New Hampshire citizens.

We therefore recommend:

- The establishment of a Consumer Council with enough independence, authority, and financial support to conduct investigations and to submit public annual reports recommending legislation in behalf of consumers in such areas as: door-to-door selling, recession, home repairs, land fraud, automobile insurance, meat and fish processing, itemized funeral billing, tire grading, garnishment-of-wage policy, public utility costs, and interest rates on loans.

- The creation of the post of Consumer Counsel in the office of the State Attorney General and the Bank Commissioner to serve as the staff of the Consumer Council with powers to enforce legislation and act on individual complaints.
- The enactment of a truth-in-lending law.

Economic Prosperity and Development

To sustain our economic prosperity, to upgrade those sections of the state which have not shared in this prosperity, and to protect an environment essential to healthy growth, we recommend the following:

- The formation of an economic development policy to promote healthy and balanced growth of the state's economy.
- Support of industrial development through research directed toward the expansion and diversification of the economy and the discovery of new markets; increased state support for development and promotion activities.
- Support and utilization of federal programs for economic development.
- Continued implementation of the Technical Services Act to provide services to private industry.
- Support of the work of the Rural Area Development Committee in each of the ten counties.
- Support, on an expanded basis, of the activities of the New Hampshire Commission on the Arts which has already shown that a well developed state arts program creates an addition dimension of financial, commercial, and educational growth.
- Support of cooperative programs among local, state, and federal groups to enhance economic progress, especially through implementation of the Public Works and Economic Development Act, the Manpower Development and Training Act, and through wider use of the Small Business Administration programs.

- That the closure order for the Portsmouth Naval Yard of the Secretary of Defense be rescinded to meet the defense needs of the United States for a submarine design, construction and repair facility and as essential to the economic welfare of New Hampshire.
- Support of any reasonable measures, public or private, to lower electric rates in New Hampshire.
- Promotion of the tourist industry through an expanded system of highway information centers, a state signing system for lodging, meals and garage services, and wide distribution of a well-designed tourist handbook.
- Support of incentives for moderate-cost housing and the full utilization of current federal programs.
- Support of the concept of regional growth centers to maximize the resources of an area.
- Support of vocational-technical training to attract industries which require more skilled labor and pay higher wages.
- Implementation of the State Investment Plan.
- Creation of loan funds to help finance small business and nonprofit institutions, particularly medical and cultural institutions.

Education

Statistics show New Hampshire's low rank in public support of its schools, not only at the state level but at all levels combined. However, the point is not the small amount of money spent on our schools, but the deficiencies in our educational system that have resulted from this low level of support.

A bright future for New Hampshire depends upon an educational system of unqualified excellence and an equal opportunity for all boys and girls to develop their skills and talents to the maximum.

This is the goal of education in New Hampshire. The Democratic Party has always worked for these major educational goals. We continue to work for them by calling for the following improvements:

- Full financial implementation of Building Aid, District Reorganization Aid, and Special Education Programs for the handicapped.
- Substantially increased funding of the Foundation Aid Program to help the poorer communities and a critical review of the Foundation Aid formula, including consideration of a flat-rate-per-pupil aid program and emergency funds available to local communities for extraordinary increases in enrollment.

- Creation of standards for elementary schools and strengthening of the present standards for secondary schools.
- State assistance to local school districts in their efforts to raise standards by helping to pay for the costs of these improvements and by providing increased field services to the local schools through the State Department of Education.
- Enlarging a program of state aid to non-public schools with the condition a) that such aid not include funds for religious instruction, b) that state standards for all schools be rigidly enforced, c) that adequate funding at the state level be provided, and d) that such aid be within constitutional limits.
- Support of the following measures to ease the teacher shortage:
 - a) The establishment of a teachers' minimum salary of $6,000 with the state sharing in these costs; this should also include raising the salaries of principals and superintendents to competitive levels.
 - b) A vigorous teacher recruiting program to encourage teaching careers
 - c) Changes in rigid certification standards that will allow more flexibility without lowering the quality of teaching in our schools.
 - d) Encouragement of more imaginative uses of the talent and time of trained teachers; team teaching, teacher aides, part-time teachers, specialists, etc.
 - e) Utilization of talented people and private agencies in the communities as educational resources.
- State leadership and help, to both local school boards and local teacher's organizations, in establishing mutually acceptable procedures for professional negotiations.
- The development by the State Board of Education of a coordinated state-wide plan for school district reorganization.
- Maximum use of federal aid to education while retaining state and local supervision of the distribution and administration of the funds; urging that the timing of federal allocations be made in a manner which will make local school financial planning possible.
- Increased support of Educational Television.

- Full financial implementation of New Hampshire's Statewide Library Development Program.
- Financial support of our State University system at a level no less than the per student support accorded by states with comparable economic capability.
- Encouragement of the University's efforts to institute charges for new out-of-state students that equal the costs of their education, to the end that in-state tuitions may be kept within reasonable limits.
- Support of the following measures to bring vocational, technical and two and four year college opportunities within the economic and geographic reach of all New Hampshire citizens:
 - a) More adequate funding of the vocational and technical institutes and enrichment of their curricula;
 - b) Scholarship and other financial aid to enable needy students to obtain training;
 - c) Encouragement of private school efforts to provide enriched educational opportunities for New Hampshire students;
 - d) The creation of comprehensive commuting college opportunities, especially for groups which need training.
 - e) Expansion of the University branch at Manchester to a full 4 year program of liberal arts and teacher education so that more of our youth may be encouraged to enter the teaching profession.
- Support of the Dollars-for-Scholars Program enacted at the last session of the General Court, and for adequate funding to provide incentive matching money for monies raised locally from private sources.
- Support of Federal legislation which would enable all capable students to obtain education beyond high school.
- Protection of the spirit of free inquiry in our University, Colleges, and public schools.
- Support of vocational rehabilitation programs and adult basic education programs so that all New Hampshire citizens may have the maximum opportunity to lead productive lives.
- Encouragement with state support of local school efforts in the following areas:

- a) Establishment of public kindergartens for all;
 - b) Head Start programs and Follow-Through programs in the early grades;
 - c) Improvement of vocational education courses in the high schools in order to better prepare students to find employment after graduation;
 - d) Creation and improvement of school libraries;
 - e) Experiments with innovative programs.
- Support of efforts to encourage the upgrading of the teaching profession including incentive increments for special training and advanced degrees and the availability of regional course opportunities at a low tuition rate.

Government Organization

We continue to be concerned about an efficient and responsive state government. To this end we recommend the following measures:

- Improvement of executive leadership
- a) by supporting a four-year term for the Office of Governor;
 - b) by making the terms of office of major department heads concurrent with the Governor's term;
 - c) by re-evaluating the functions of the executive council in order to encourage vigorous and responsible leadership by the governor and the executive department;
 - d) by continuing to improve the fiscal supervision of state agencies and by effective capital improvement and programming within the executive department.
- Modernization of the State Legislature
- a) by significantly reducing the size of the total membership;
 - b) by providing adequate and just compensation for the members of the legislature;
 - c) by establishing annual sessions of the legislature;
 - d) by providing more adequate staff and office space for all members of the legislature.
- Improvement of intergovernmental relations in New Hampshire
- a) by eliminating unnecessary duplication of state, county and municipal functions and facilities;

b) by re-evaluation of the need for increased home rule for towns and cities in New Hampshire.

In addition, in order to assist local government, we recommend the following additional measures:

- Establishment of a state program which will give a fuller range of technical assistance to the towns and cities.
- Incentive legislation to encourage municipalities to cooperate in providing services which it would be hard for them to provide when acting alone.
- Relief of the heavy tax burden on local property owners by the state's assuming the cost of certain services now funded fully, or in large part, by the towns and cities.

Our primary recommendation with respect to government organization, in order to increase the ability of state departments to fulfill their roles efficiently, is as follows:

- The establishment of a bi-partisan body to conduct a detailed and thorough analysis of governmental organizations in New Hampshire and to recommend specific and general programs for action directly to the legislature and to the governor.

Health and Welfare

The economic prosperity of our state is a hollow achievement if fellow citizens are forced to bear the burden of poverty, are crushed by poor health, are trapped by mental illness or retardation.

The Democratic Party has a deep and continuing commitment to provide improved help to the poor, the ill, and the aged. We therefore recommend the following measures:

- Legislation which would give the state responsibility for care of foster children; a more uniform subsidy rate for foster homes; and the further active participation of private agencies in the placement of foster children.
- State financial support of foster children, including funds adequate to assist those in need of special care, to provide necessary school tuition costs, and to reimburse foster parents at a level commensurate with required expenditures.
- Abolition of the welfare settlement law and in its place state reimbursement of towns and cities through direct relief.
- Support of legislation establishing a domestic relations court.

- Adequate salary standards and a practical work load for state social workers.
- Development and expansion of post-graduate programs for the training of social workers at the University of New Hampshire.
- Encouragement of education and work experience for welfare recipients, to help them avoid the need for welfare.
- Strengthening of licensing procedures in New Hampshire nursing homes.
- Increased state support for a registered nurse and practical nurse training program.
- Clarification of the relationship between county hospitals and nursing homes.
- Full utilization of federal matching funds for community health services.
- Cooperation with neighboring states in planning regional diagnostic and treatment centers for the control of cancer and other killer diseases.
- Increased state and local support for, and expansion of Community Mental Health Clinics.
- Expanded out-patient treatment facilities and resident care centers for emotionally disturbed children with emergency receiving centers in community hospitals for the acutely mentally disturbed.
- Support of plans to implement more fully Medicare and to extend Medicaid.
- Support of Comprehensive Health Planning.
- Support of adequate day care centers, properly licensed.
- Establishment of an advisory committee to study and to recommend changes in present laws governing the adoption of children in order to insure uniform and reasonable practices.
- Legislation for a comprehensive, coordinated nursing care program that is fair to needy persons in private homes and that establishes adequate standards of care.
- Minimum reimbursement of $1,000 per year for public health nurses serving towns without a local nursing service agency.
- Recodification of laws pertaining to minors (particularly those statutes which fail to distinguish between juvenile delinquents and neglected children).

- The consolidation of county health and welfare functions wherever possible to achieve maximum efficiency and economy.
- Support for the State Council on the Aging.
- Support of training programs to enable women to take jobs as social and health workers and thus ease the acute shortage of such workers.
- Support of treatment, rather than imprisonment, for alcoholics;
 - a) recuperation facilities with provisions for after-sickness therapy; and
 - b) neighborhood alcoholic rehabilitation programs with trained workers.
- Support the recommendations of the Vocational Rehabilitation Planning Commission including:
 - a) a Department of Special Education at Keene State College; vocational rehabilitation internship and in-service training programs in the University system,
 - b) an adequately trained and compensated professional staff for a Division of Vocational Rehabilitation which may be transferred to the Department of Health and Welfare,
 - c) the creation of a Council of Human Resources to coordinate and do joint planning for those state agencies working with people and to provide a comprehensive referral system to insure that all New Hampshire citizens needing help have access to it,
 - d) a plan to utilize the Glencliff T.B. Sanatorium as a facility for unwed mothers, or as a correction facility for youthful offenders or delinquent boys,
 - e) creation of six regional Child Development centers,
 - f) creation of Diagnostic Centers for the Department of Correction, for juveniles at the Industrial School, and for adults in the Concord area,
 - g) development of a northern New England facility for the criminally insane,
 - h) revision of the Workmen's Compensation law, and
 - i) incentive grants to non-profit corporations for development of half-way houses or sheltered workshops.

Human Rights and Justice

In a time of violence in our cities, unrest on our campuses, and uneasiness in our homes, we reaffirm our commitment to the goals of justice and equal opportunity. It is also essential to remember that freedom from want is integral to social justice. We encourage respect for laws and support public officials who exercise reasonably their duly constituted authority. At the same time we urge reaffirmation of the concepts that all citizens are entitled to exercise their constitutional rights, that each is entitled to equal protection of the laws, and that law enforcement agents are themselves subject to the laws.

To achieve these objectives we recommend the following:

- Adequate funds and salaried staff for the New Hampshire Human Rights Commission to make it a more effective instrument against discrimination in this state.
- Opposition to all who would seek to undermine the foundations of American constitutional democracy, including extremists of the left or right.
- Support of the recommendations of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.
- Measures such as the following to achieve fair participation of the poor, whether black or white, in the benefits of an affluent society:
 - a) programs like A Better Chance (ABC), a cooperative town-college-high school program for disadvantaged youth;
 - b) Summer camp programs for less fortunate youngsters;
 - c) the use of elementary school textbooks which mirror the reality of different races, income levels, and mores;
 - d) the provision of health care, particularly preventive medicine, to the economically disadvantaged.
- Amendment of New Hampshire's present open-housing law to conform to federal legislation and provision of many more units of new or rehabilitated housing units for low income families.
- Lowering the voting age to eighteen (18) years.

Labor

In keeping with a long commitment of the Democratic Party to improve the working conditions and security of labor, we recommend the following:

- Legislation establishing a minimum wage comparable to the federal minimum wage and providing full coverage for all workers.
- Opposition to any so-called “Right-to-Work” laws.
- Protection through legislation of the right of all workers, including public employees, to organize and to bargain collectively with their employers on hours, wages, and other conditions of employment.
- Support of efforts to retrain workers whose skills have become obsolete through technological innovation.
- Reorganization and strengthening of the Department of Labor, to enable it to protect the interests of the New Hampshire worker more effectively.
- A careful review of unemployment and workmen’s compensation legislation, to ensure that all qualified claimants are aware of and receive benefits due them.
- Support of such as the following, to insure fair treatment for all state employees:
 - a) salaries and fringe benefits for classified state employees comparable to the averages for similar positions in the other five New England States (Equal Pay for Equal Work);
 - b) reforms in the manner of evaluation of classified positions by the state’s Personnel Department;
 - c) reforms in the appeal procedure before the Personnel Commission;
 - d) the introduction of in-service training programs to enable state employees to improve their performances, with a suitable reward for the successful completion of such courses;
 - e) review of existing statutes prohibiting a classified state employee from making contributions to the political party of his choice and/or publicly supporting the candidates of his choice.
 - f) supplement of Workmen’s Compensation by use of leave up to full pay;
 - g) time and one-half pay after eight (8) hours in a day and after forty (40) hours in a week and for work on legal holidays;
 - h) State contribution to hospitalization insurance.
- Preference given to New Hampshire-made products purchased by state institutions within the limits of competitive price and quality.

- Support on the state level of the national platform calling for adequate protection of wage earners from unfair foreign imports.
- Programs to reverse the pattern of “underemployment” in the northern part of the state and low wage employment throughout the state.

Natural Resources

Our natural and scenic resources are a critically important element in the scheme of New Hampshire's future economy. They are of prime importance today and provide our most important legacy to the future.

Unique natural areas should be protected, acquired, or reserved soon, while the land is still available. We recommend the following:

- Continuous planning at all levels of government to evaluate our natural resources and to devise the best methods of using and protecting them.
- Protection of our great scenic and recreational resources, including our parks, (particularly Mount Washington and Franconia Notch), our seashore, our mountains, the Great Bay, and primitive areas such as the Connecticut Lakes.
- Further implementation of the recommendations of the State Planning Project and the Governor's Committees on Natural Beauty and Forest Policy.
- A continuing struggle against the blight of water, noise and air pollution through all available means, particularly by providing the necessary technical staff and financial assistance to combat it.
- Legislation and financial incentives to protect salt and fresh water marshes, banks, flood plains and to restore barrow pits.
- Support of town conservation commissions with technical assistance.
- Legislation to protect the land from rural blight and to ensure lasting and proper development; continued support of the severance tax on timber as a measure to that end.
- Flexible powers for wildlife management to the Director of the Fish and Game Department.
- An adequate state program to insure safety to citizens in the siting of nuclear power plants and to disallow the discharge of heated effluents where damage to life in any form may result.
- A program for placing utility lines underground in all new building areas for conversions in established zones.

- Support of an adequate program of geologic research and investigation for both mining and development guidance.
- An improved program of public access to lakes and ponds, without diminishing the qualities of these recreational resources.
- Improvement in the efficiency and coordination of state programs in Natural Resources:
 - a) by a reorganization of state resource agencies into a Department of Natural Resources to include such agencies as the Division of Parks, Division of Resource Development (forestry), Fish and Game Department, and Water Resources Board.
 - b) by further strengthening and support of the Council of Resources and Development.
- Support of implementing legislation permitting farm, forest, and open space lands to be assessed according to present rather than future use with emphasis on encouraging orderly, planned development and the retention of New Hampshire's scenic beauty.
- Action to implement the federal studies of the Connecticut River to preserve its unspoiled rural and primitive beauty from unrestrained development and to achieve the full economic potential of the basin.
- A strong state oceanographic program with emphasis on regional cooperation to protect our valuable estuaries and to achieve the full benefits from our marine resources.

Planning for Growth

Planning is a dynamic process by which people and communities evaluate their needs and the problems and establish goals and objectives for their future actions. We urge support of the following:

- Financial incentives for regional planning.
- Maximum use of federal aid, such as Urban Planning Assistance Grants, and other programs related to transportation, open space, water, and community facilities.
- Development of a comprehensive, long-range highway and transportation plan for the state, to be coordinated with plans for economic and resource development.
- Cooperation with the newly created New England River Basins

Commission for a comprehensive inventory and plan for New Hampshire's water resources.

- Close collaboration with regional development and promotional efforts, particularly the New England Regional Commission, the New Hampshire-Vermont Development Council, the Tri-County Resource, Conservation and Development District, the Industrial Councils, the Technical Assistance Panels, the Rural Areas Development Committees, and the Regional Associations.
- Legislation allowing cities and towns to create special tax districts for special services.
- The establishment of an office of planning and coordination as an integral part of the executive department.

Public Safety

A growing threat to the safety of our people is the increase in highway accidents and their tragic consequences to our families. Other problems of public safety have also multiplied in recent years.

Therefore, we recommend the following:

- Periodic re-examination of drivers to determine the state of their health and physical condition.
- Support, with funds and qualified personnel, of the state's traffic safety program and the work of the Safety Commission.
- Strengthening of the present auto vehicle inspection system.
- Support of a state program to implement the Highway Safety Act.
- Prohibition of the sale of sub-standard automobiles, as well as of whole cars by junkyard dealers.
- A broader program of traffic studies in order to help local communities in their traffic control and road planning efforts.
- Required re-examination of accident repeaters.
- Promotion of driver training courses in schools and expansion of driver improvement courses.
- Continued strengthening of stand-by emergency plans to cope with riots and continuing studies of their origins and causes.
- All possible action to alleviate the root causes of unrest and disturbances.
- State support of police training programs and reimbursement to participating cities and towns of at least one-half of the salaries and other training expenses of local policemen during the program; establishment of a municipal Police Standards and Training Committee to administer the program.

- State support of a Police Academy.
- Establishment of a state correctional system to include the state prison and to provide technical and professional guidance to the county jails and houses of correction, with provision of professional and administrative personnel and rehabilitation services; training for custodial personnel; consolidation of facilities where economy demands.
- Establishment of a joint Maine-New Hampshire committee to study the feasibility of using the U.S. Naval Prison for correctional purposes.
- Requiring fire escapes for all commercial or public buildings of two stories or more (the requirement now applies only to three-story buildings) and adequate exits in all apartment buildings.
- A system of police cooperation among communities to facilitate the reduction of crime.
- Extending existing state legislation pertaining to pistols and revolvers to include all firearms.
- Strengthening the law to prevent the possession and use of firearms by persons convicted of felonies or violent misdemeanors, by addicts and others in whose hands a firearm would be dangerous.
- Revision of administrative procedures to assure that existing gun control legislation is as effective as possible.
- Banning the manufacture, sale, and possession of springloaded knives.

Transportation

We believe that sound transportation planning is crucial for attracting industry, for promoting tourism, and for providing convenient and safe motoring. We continue to support a well-administered and integrated transportation system subject to reasonable regulation. We accordingly recommend the following:

- Completion of the Interstate Highway System in New Hampshire.
- Enabling legislation which will permit the state to appropriate funds far enough in advance to take immediate advantage of new federal highway funds.

- Legislative appropriation of necessary matching funds under the Federal Aid Airport program to establish at least one major jet airport.
- Improvement of highway links to the New York-Washington corridor, to Canadian metropolitan centers, and to join with neighboring states in an East-West highway system.
- Accelerated construction and improvement of our highway system in the North Country, including extension of the Spaulding Turnpike and an East-West artery.
- Utilization of federal and state funds for a first-rate network of airports and for improvement of navigational aids and flight services.
- Improved public transportation and cooperation in regional mass transportation planning.
- Full utilization of scenic easement funds and legislation to preserve the beauty of our highways.
- Establishment of a highway route locations review board.
- Improvement of town roads through such measures as:
 - a) Allocation of 15% of state gas tax revenues, rather than a fixed figure, to the maintenance of local roads;
 - b) State responsibility for bridges on state highways;
 - c) Increased state aid (TRA funds) for town bridges;
 - d) Insistence that State roads and bridges be returned to towns and cities in good condition.

Revenue to Support the Preceding Proposals

New Hampshire faces the challenge of new problems created by rapid growth and changing circumstances. The program we have outlined will produce orderly economic growth and prosperity for New Hampshire. It will assure each New Hampshire citizen a fair chance to share in that growth and prosperity. It will prevent individuals and groups from unfairly exploiting the natural resources in which all citizens have a stake. Failure or delay to fund these programs now will only add to public problems and prolong individual hardships. New Hampshire must, therefore, act now to avoid ills that must otherwise be cured at a higher cost later. New Hampshire cannot escape the crises that beset Boston and other populous areas to its south if it fails — as they did — to meet promptly the challenge presented by similar growth.

These programs cannot be funded by the renters and owners of property alone. Local property taxes already support a heavier portion of the cost of public services in New Hampshire than in any other state. Property taxes bear most heavily on persons of lower income, discourage home construction, and force New Hampshire's land and economy into undesirable development patterns.

Under New Hampshire's present tax system some groups escape their fair share of the cost of public service, while persons of lesser income, such as the aged, pay more than their share. Citizens are receiving less in essential public services than they need and the public welfare demands. Burgeoning growth is creating ever new needs. Increasing personal property taxes threaten New Hampshire industry and commerce.

What should be done?

First, we can continue to work as we have in the past

- to effect economies and efficiencies in state and local government whenever possible.
- to assure a uniform method of evaluating and assessing local property.
- to support reform of the State Constitution to permit the legislature to enact progressive taxes.

Second, the state can and should reduce the degree of dependence on local property taxes. In such a revision of New Hampshire's existing tax patterns, we can repeal stock-in-trade and other discriminatory taxes but only if we can replace them with more equitable taxes.

We must not enact any new tax that will penalize people of lower income. Accordingly, we cannot accept a sales tax which taxes necessities such as food, clothing and medication or fails to give tax credit for such purchases. Nor can we accept an income tax which does not exempt those of low income.

Finally, to do these things, New Hampshire's existing tax structure should be reviewed and reformed. Unfair taxes must be replaced. We should assure that new levies are tied to a base that will grow with the population, the economy and the demonstrated need for public services.

New taxes, assessed and applied generally to all groups, should be collected at the state level. The major portion of new taxes should be returned directly to the cities and towns and used by the state to provide some of the services for which towns and cities now pay. This will serve the primary purpose of stabilizing the mounting property tax burden.
